

Letter from Mabel Hubbard Bell to Alexander Graham Bell, March 19, 1909, with transcript

Letter from Mrs. Alexander Graham Bell to Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. 1331 Connecticut Avenue Washington, D. C. March 19, (1909) My darling Alec,

Daisy is, according to the doctor and nurse, getting on famously, but poor child she is suffering dreadfully at times with the after birth pains, especially when the baby nurses. It is very hard to see her suffer so much. However, she is much stronger and all the surroundings much more comfortable than when Sandie was born, and she has confidence in her nurse. There are no big-mouthed glass bottles as with Sandie and there certainly is a difference between a first and a second child!

Much love to you. I must catch the mail.

Casey wrote a nice long letter but I haven't a thing from you for weeks.

Your Mabel.
